On the average, the Sennite spends five hours daily INSIDE SENN. These five hours are composed of classes, studies and a lunch period.

The Sennite stays inside a place the most comfortable and familiar. This explains the feelings of a Sennite after spending five hours INSIDE SENN.

Rooms evoke memories of classes, corners remind one of meetings with friends, and stairways recall hurried rushes to classes.

Sennite life is a life of activity. Sennite life is a life of activity. Sennite spends half his lunch period, often an activity period enjoyed in assembly, and it is here to the strains of the graduation march that the senior completes his life INSIDE SENN.

SENNTITE LIFE

The unfamiliar setting of Sennite life calls for admiring glances and even a few remarks.

Senn

The halls INSIDE SENN are a bustling sight between periods.

Excerpt from the book "The School" by [Author Name]...
The school was a place of learning and growth...
It was a place where children came to learn...
and where teachers dedicated themselves to their craft...
The school was a place of hope and dreams...
It was a place where the future was being shaped...
The school was a place of love and care...
It was a place where children found their way...
The school was a place of life and death...
It was a place where the past met the future...
The school was a place of joy and sorrow...
It was a place where the heart was always open...

School

Seniotes need not look any further than their own school for activities of their choice whether they are held Before or After School. It is a wonderful feeling to walk toward Senn on a crisp winter evening to see the lights in the windows beckoning you to the laughter and gaiety of the Social Center crowd or the tuning up of the Orchestra.

One annual function that is always held after school is P I A Night. This event acquaints the parents with the activities and the work of their children.

What expresses more school spirit than to stay after school for a basketball game? There amid the cheering crowd you can think to yourself: This is my School.

Long live the Queen

Parents show interest in their children's progress at P I A Night

1. The first group of variables includes the demographic characteristics of the respondents, such as age, gender, and education level. These variables are used to control for potential confounding factors that may influence the dependent variable.

Teachers and the teachers give Senn its spirit to pass. Whether the world is to be a better one, no one need deny it. As for the school, if it is not, there would be no Senn. It is known to the Senns.

Thanks for the Memories

1954 - 1955

On the evening of the
 We had a time of so
 We danced the past seasons
 How good it was to
 The Picnic and the Luncheon
 Were events of the year.
 However, the Prom will always Remain the most dear

There is a touch of sadness
 At the passing of Graduation Day,
 For we must all go away
 And each one would go his way
 So our Graduation was a Hail
 And Farewell!

At the graduation ceremony, Mr. N. N. N.
 in 1900, for he graduated to the position of District Superintendent.

We could have danced all night.

Not finished, just begun

and Thoughtful Supervision

After nearly four years marked by steady progress and achievement as Senn's principal, Mr. Samuel Nowinson has been promoted to the position of Superintendent of District 17. We of the Forum Staff take this opportunity to join the Senn faculty and student body in wishing Mr. Nowinson continued success in his new capacity. The following message reflects Mr. Nowinson's sincere enthusiasm for education, an enthusiasm which will long remain with Senn students.

An education is the most lasting possession which a human being can acquire in a life-time. Laws may change, governments may totter, fortunes may be made or lost, but the permanency of knowledge is the best form of social insurance in a world where the only certainty is change. Not only does a good educational foundation enable people to cope with the world of the present, but by giving them a basic philosophy as well as factual information, it also enables them to adjust to changing times and conditions. Furthermore, education in itself constitutes an ethic, and the educated man or woman is far less inclined to wrongdoing than the uneducated. As a prescription for "The Good Life," health, moderate prosperity, and an education which results in understanding the world and one's fellow man is still the best available combination known for peace of mind and peace of soul. A high school education or a college education, either for that matter, will not remove all doubt and confusion from the mind, but it will produce a self-confidence and stability which can help to establish a personal sense of security for sound price. It is a light to explore the darkness, a weapon to combat cosmic chaos.

Guiding Us Toward

Mr. Lowry B. Crane - Hobby: Sports

In September, 1959, Miss Catherine D. Brennan, formerly in charge of the Adjustment Department, joined Mr. Lowry B. Crane and Mr. Eugene A. Friker as Senn High School's third Assistant Principal. To fulfill the responsibilities of her new position, Miss Brennan assisted in the formulation of the general policies which insured the efficient operation of Senn.

Of vital importance to all Senn was the coordination of the daily program of each student. After the student body elected the courses for the coming semester, it was the task of the Assistant Principals to administer the designing of the schedule of classes. Following the publication of the Senn News Schedule Edition, Miss Brennan, Mr. Crane, and Mr. Friker conducted the registration of students, including the adjustment of individual programs in the event of conflicting classes.

Keeping Senn students informed about recent developments in college and scholarship programs played an important role in the busy schedule of Mrs. Marguerite Keefe, Placement and College Counselor. In addition to conducting personal interviews with each of the 645 graduating students, Mrs. Keefe administered the approval of all dropouts, transfers and located positions for Sennites who sought partial or full time employment.

The Senn Attendance Office, supervised by Mrs. Marjorie Reed and Mrs. Ann Galt, exists for the purpose of encouraging regular attendance and punctuality. Twenty students work here daily to assist in enrolling new students, registering late arrivals, and granting early dismissals. Perfect attendance certificates are awarded to all Senn students who are neither absent nor tardy during the course of the semester.

The chief functions of the Adjustment Department, under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Worden and Miss Meta L. Greiner, revolved about the program of student testing, including the administration and interpretation of 1A, 2A and 3A tests, and the examination of new students and of all remedial class members at the close of each semester. In addition to directing Parent Interview Day for pupils in the elementary schools of the Senn district, Mrs. Worden and Miss Greiner maintained cumulative folders for each Sennite and aided students to solve problems of social origin.

The responsibilities of Senn's advisers encompassed a broad field of activity. While Freshman and Sophomore advisers concerned themselves with adjusting the lower classmen to high school life, Junior and Senior advisers prepared their year groups for colleges and scholarships. Advisory problems included those of program adjusting, social adjusting and the computing and compiling of semester averages and ranks in class.

Helping the principal to accomplish his program for the efficient administration of Senn High School was the responsibility of Miss Mary Sheridan, Mrs. Helen Dietrich, Mrs. Jane Gahagan, and Miss Sydelie Weiss. Until her untimely death in January, Mrs. Mabel Hartnett was in charge of college transcripts; this duty was taken over by Mrs. Jane Plante. The functions of the office personnel involved numerous activities including the management of funds in the Senn treasury; the ordering of all necessary equipment and supplies; the preparation of such documents as college transcripts, graduation lists, and monthly and semester reports of school enrollment and student progress; and the mimeographing and distribution of the daily bulletin.

Assisting students in their search for information about a wide scope of topics, ranging from the life cycle of the aardvark to the excitement of a safari in the depths of Zululand, was but one of the many activities which filled the crowded schedule of Senn's librarians. In addition to keeping an accurate record of the location of the myriad volumes which line three rooms of shelves, Miss Mary Fahey, Mrs. Marion Kuhlman, and Mrs. Ethel Brenner also conducted lectures and discussions designed to instruct students in the art of handling books and using such standard library equipment as the card catalog.

Aides Maintain Accurate

Thirty-nine Senn students devoted a minimum of one period daily to the task of aiding the heads of the various school offices with their innumerable duties. Sennites serving in the Attendance Office helped keep an accurate record of student attendance and verified absences by phone. Students assisting in the Placement Office performed such specific functions as recording test results while aides who worked in the central office took part in two spheres of activity—greeting school visitors and doing general clerical work.

Capably assisting District Superintendent Dr. John Bell are Marjorie Freeman and Susan Stone.

The Attendance Office provides aids for latecomers to Senn cheerfully helping Mrs. Marjorie Reed in room 127 are Renee Stein and Gene Helton.

Records

To help lighten the heavy burden of responsibility carried by Senn's advisers was the principal objective of the fifty-four students who served as advisers' aids during the past two semesters. Although the major portion of the aids' tasks consisted of clerical work, they also helped to maintain accurate records, carry out necessary errands, and assist with inter-office correspondence.

To augment the regular program of Honors English classes under the direction of Miss Helen Jones, a new course has been instituted at Senn. Known as College Preparatory English II, the class has been designed to offer to students who have completed the first semester of Honors College Preparatory English an opportunity to expand their knowledge of English literature. In addition to analyzing various literary works, the pupils were able to utilize writing skills gained in earlier classes.

Interest in Creative Writing

At the top of the page, a group of students and a teacher, Miss Grace Lindahl, are shown. Below them, the names of the students are listed: P. Levy, J. Wallace, M. Blomgren, M. Finkel, K. Lindahl, L. Kay, C. Shynick, S. Shadrow.

An outgrowth of the interest in the development of the writing ability of Sennites has been demonstrated by the continuation of the Creative Writing Club. Meeting on a weekly basis with their sponsor, Miss Grace Lindahl, the aspiring authors presented their compositions for critical analysis of organization, theme, and style.

"Good day, Miss Fairfax" cries Midge Gertz to Sandi Heller while entertaining Senn's PTA

A hush descended over the audience at the Loyola Community Theatre as the curtain rose on the Senn Players' presentation of "Sabrina Fair," a delightful comedy by Samuel Taylor, which depicts the dilemma of a young American girl who returns from her sojourn at Paris to discover that her social status has been radically altered. In addition to the performances of the semi-annual school production, Players also participated in Brotherhood Week by presenting a one-act play entitled "More Perfect Union" during the Interracial International Festival in Oak Park, Illinois.

To acquire the specialized knowledge of dramatic techniques so necessary to their field of endeavor, Players conducted a study of the history of theatrical art, which involved an extensive survey of the elements of Greek tragedy.

Instructing students in the rudimentary procedures involved in the publication of a school newspaper was the chief objective of the Journalism I course. The preparation of the Seunlite, a mimeographed paper, served the purpose of aiding students to apply newly-learned techniques. Members of the class also produced a special issue, the Freshie News, which was distributed to all incoming Freshmen at the beginning of the semester.

They Looked

Amid countless layouts, reams of discarded copy, and piles of pictures, the '59 Forum staff created Senn's yearbook. Searching for that elusive something "a new angle," everyone struggled to meet deadlines. All the editors and reporters combined efforts to complete their sections, this was not always an easy task. Through the mass hysteria in Room 218, Miss Alice Gill ruled with a firm hand.

Inside Senn

The Business staff met in Room 245 where they handled the financial end of the yearbook. Though basically "money mad," the staff members had the responsibility of compiling endless lists and handing out supplies. This year, for the first time, they undertook the tremendous job of adding an advertisement section and printing the students' names on the books. Mr. Terrence Kennedy managed the roomful of workers, lending needed help and advice.

Do you ever go into 245 and there are James Levine and Bennie Massarsky, Co-Business Managers, and Mr. Terrence Kennedy, Editor.

Third Row: N. Miller, D. Guttman, A. O'ell, B. Horwitz, D. Owan

Because of the immensity of their jobs, Faculty Editor Dena Epstein and Co-Clubs and Activities Editors Trudi Sommerfeld and Judy Leavitt often find it necessary to work on their section at informal meetings at home in addition to the time spent in school.

These young business men and women are the staff of the yearbook. They are the ones who are responsible for the success of the yearbook. They are the ones who are responsible for the success of the yearbook. They are the ones who are responsible for the success of the yearbook.

"Is it Billy Williams or Bob White?" Queries of this type could be heard as the Forum Training Staff worked to complete identification. They checked it with files of the entire population of Penn in order to help complete the Student Index, an innovation in the 1959 Forum. Acting as apprentices, this group did any necessary work for the regular staff. Under the tutelage of Miss Alice Gail, their knowledge of the workings of the yearbook was greatly increased.

Efficient planning and exact layouts are two of the ingredients that go into the making of a good section. Co-Senior Editor, Fink and Marlene Koll, compromise at the blackboard before making a final decision.

Judy Phillips and Sharon Atkinson, Co-Underclassmen Editors, hurry to finish their section in first. At this point, each picture presents a problem, unique in itself.

With the aid of records, movies and personal knowledge, the Senn Language Department has emphasized to Sennites the importance of foreign relations through the knowledge of foreign languages. In addition to creating a better understanding of our neighbors, this department has worked in cooperation with colleges by helping students to meet college entrance requirements.

The teachers of French, German, Latin, and Spanish have furthered the students' knowledge with the aid of speakers from foreign countries. They also have sponsored clubs whose meetings were conducted in the foreign language.

Although the fundamentals of a foreign language may be mastered gradually through daily classwork, the ability to communicate freely in a different tongue can be acquired only by constant practice. To assist students in developing ease in pronunciation, fluency with idiomatic Spanish phrases, and proficiency in grammatical construction, Mrs. Hannah Choldin organized four Spanish Clubs. Members of these organizations strove diligently to improve their conversational ability by conducting the group meetings primarily in Spanish.

To further understanding of Spanish American cultures was the principal objective of Miss Alma Lindahl's Spanish Club. By conducting the year's program mainly in Spanish, the group members were able to augment their ability to employ idiomatic phraseology both in daily conversation and in written composition. Through the use of such innovations as Spanish games and records, students acquired information about life in the southern hemisphere.

To create a wholesome and enjoyable interest in the Latin language and Roman history and culture was the primary function of Mrs. Marie Garo's Latin Club. To fulfill this objective, the officers planned and presented programs of an entertaining and educational value which included films illustrating Rome's influence on the modern world, discussions, and research papers. One of the aims of the club is to show the influence of Latin culture on our own language, architecture, society, and professions.

Discussing the latest in Latin literature are Lionel D'edre, Evelyn Cohn, Joel Chernoff, and Dave Epstein.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Hannah Choldin, members of the Continental staff combined their diverse talents to produce the only foreign language newspaper published by a high school in metropolitan Chicago. Participation in the activities of the Continental not only afforded Senmites an opportunity to develop linguistic skill gained by classwork, but also served to further interest in French, German, Latin, and Spanish—the four languages encompassed by the curriculum of Senn's Language Department. Articles presented in the format of the newspaper ranged from the impressions of students who had recently arrived in the United States from foreign countries to amusing anecdotes selected from an ethnologies of life in foreign countries.

Continental staff members Judy Phillips, Roberta Mash, John Strachan, and Melie Cristol gather for a staff meeting with Mrs. Hannah Choldin.

Hope—Tom Hagedorn hopes the sign being put up by Steve Salchenberger and Lynn Briskin will boost Continental sales.

Today's world is teeming with tensions; international crises threaten to eliminate at any moment the slender margin between uncertain peace and devastating war; scientific progress has become a tool used by masters of propaganda to convert masses of unsuspecting people to Communism; the issue of civil rights has become a burning question upon the political scene of America . . . The resolution of pressing problems such as these provided Senn's International Relations Club with an unlimited source of material for discussion. By visiting DuSable High School, members of the IR Club were able to project the outcome of their discussions, held under the guidance of Mr. Daniel Powell, into practical application. To make the program truly reciprocal, students from DuSable were also invited to tour Senn.

Seeks Advanced Placement

In order to supplement the knowledge gained from regularly scheduled social studies classes, Senn students participated in the Advanced Placement Seminar. Supervised by Mrs. Howard Meyer, head of the Social Studies Department, the seminar met daily to discuss the problem approach to the study of modern history. With the aid of Chaimen David Miller and Steve Marcus, students prepared reports to familiarize themselves with the development of various conditions from the earliest recorded civilization of mankind until the present.

In addition to receiving an increased number of points for the calculation of scholastic averages, pupils who perform satisfactorily on the Advanced Placement Examination, given annually in May, are eligible to receive college credit for their high school efforts.

To participate in the Advanced Placement program offered by the College Boards, the Senn Math Department, under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Antoine, instituted a new method of instruction. Designed to aid students who have demonstrated outstanding ability to master mathematics, the course involves the completion of four full years of high school math within the space of three years. This plan allows the senior year to be devoted to the study of advanced subjects such as calculus and analytical geometry, in preparation for the Advanced Placement Examination given in May of each year.

Although difficult but fascinating, the subject is not too difficult. Since March 1965, to encourage group meetings, two groups were formed, consisting of juniors and seniors respectively. Under the direction of Miss Geraldine Connell and Miss Mary Margaret Smith, the secretary of the national mathematics organization, Mu Alpha Theta. Members of the association received such literature as Mathematical Pie, a magazine containing brain teasers and startling facts related to the study of numbers. In addition to gathering data by means of a rotating library system, Sennites were also privileged to hear the talks of speakers who are prominent in various vocations dealing with mathematics.

Because of recent international events, much emphasis has been placed upon improving the program of scientific education in the United States. Under the competent leadership of Dr. James Davidson, the Senn Science Department has played an active role in increasing the scope of high school science courses. To supplement the previously established curriculum of honor classes offered at Senn, a new chemistry course has been introduced. Concentrating upon learning the subject matter in greater depth, students participate in this class work on an advanced level.

The Science Fair, which is one of the most important events in the school year, is an annual competition is jointly sponsored by the Museum Science Teachers and the Board of Education to stimulate interest in science and to develop potential scientists of the future.

Mr. James Bishop, Science Teacher, is the sponsor of the fair. The fair was held at the school where it was held. It was held with the development of the project.

The saucy bulldog pennants displayed and sold during the '58-'59 football season were the design and idea of Senn's Art Club and Mrs. Patricia Hoffman. The club was helpful, too, in painting posters which served to inform Sennites of coming events as well as to brighten Senn's corridors.

New classes for the advanced art student in ceramics, pottery, and sculpture were the main accomplishment of the Senn Art Department. Maintaining a full schedule, the Music Department continued to instruct students in musical theory and application, as well as sponsoring a number of musical events throughout the year.

Mixed Chorus Sings for Kiwanis International

Gala activity filled the 1958-59 calendar of Senn's Mixed Chorus. In addition to presenting the annual Christmas Show, it is a tradition for the chorus to interpret the spirit of Christmas at Senn, the organization also participated in the 1958-59 program at the San I. [illegible] and at [illegible] for the Kiwanis International, and the [illegible] and [illegible] during the holiday season. The inspiration of Christmas was further heightened by the members of Mixed Chorus as they filled Senn's corridors with joyous carols. Highlighting the schedule of Mixed Chorus was the presentation of the semi-annual Mixed Festivals. Not only performed by the chorus, covered a wide range of musical knowledge varying from the 12th century medieval [illegible] to the [illegible] of [illegible] to the spiritual hymn, "Alleluia."

Band Presents Modern Music at "Pop Concert"

Something new has been added! For the first time since the introduction of musical training to Seon High School, the Concert Band has abandoned the tradition of performing only classical compositions at students assemblies to offer a program of modern content. Entitled the "Pop Concert" and performed on February 20, 1959, this unique musical event was presented in conjunction with the Symphony Orchestra. In addition to the contemporary numbers played by the Band and Orchestra, a group of students from Mixed Chorus offered a rendition of "Dreams Come True."

Membership in Concert Band this year expanded to include eighty-seven students; a corresponding increase in the number of musical instruments was also observed, the horn section at present being the most comprehensive in the history of the group. Under the direction of Mr. Henry Salita, Band members convened daily in room 425 to prepare for participation in the semi-annual Music Festival.

for Fifth Consecutive Year

Mastering the techniques of playing a musical instrument and blending its tone with those of others is frequently a difficult and tedious task requiring long hours of painstaking practice. To accomplish these aims, Senn's Symphony Orchestra assembled daily during third and fourth periods in room 3-.

Conducted by Dr. Ralph Yochum, the Orchestra presented a large repertoire of classical and popular selections to the student body at last year's Music Festivals. In conjunction with the Concert Band, members of the organization produced the "Pop Concert" which was performed on February 20.

At the annual contest for musical organizations of Chicago secondary schools, Senn's Orchestra received an "S"-rating, thus retaining the high status which it established five years ago and which has been renewed each year since Senn's first participation in this competition.

A stolen moment of deep concentration and Naomi Remick finds her technique greatly improved.

Bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, and all other subjects synonymous with the word "office" are taught by Senn's Department of Business Education. The most popular subject is typing offered for minor credit. As the ability to type is a requisite in most offices, students planning to become secretaries enrolled in the typing classes. This subject was also in great demand among Sennites who were planning to attend college.

Steno, or shorthand, a system of light and dark lines, dots, and dashes which enables students to take down the exact words of a speaker, was second in popularity. The course in steno and transcription, which combines shorthand and typing, vastly improves the opportunity of a student to acquire a secretarial position.

Other courses which are taught by the Department of Business Education are bookkeeping, which teaches the prospective secretary or accountant office procedures for handling ledgers, journals, and financial matters, and clerical practice, which familiarizes students with standard business machines, filing, and office procedure.

Taught at Senn

Where did the car director go

"Everything made by man begins on the draftsman's board." With these words, Mr. Gordon Williamson summarized the significance of technical preparation for students interested in developing their knowledge of the fundamental skills involved in the highly specialized fields of architecture and engineering. Courses offered by Senn High School in the aspects of mechanical drawing have been designed to serve the two-fold purpose of teaching students the rudimentary techniques of industrial design and instilling in them an awareness of the importance of systematic methods.

Forming new tools, molding metallic castings, setting type, and studying the construction of an automobile comprised some of the topics considered by technical students during the past two semesters at Senn. Auto shops, machine shops, print shops, and workshops in metals, wood, and plastics provided suitable areas for the pursuit of these courses of study. Material analyzed by technical classes was correlated to form a concrete foundation upon which beginners might base practical experience.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Marion Wood, the members of the club sponsored the Brownie and Doughnut Days, the proceeds of which went toward the maintenance of the Home Economics room. The girls also served the refreshments at the various faculty teas and luncheons.

To compare home and industrial methods of food preparation, the club visited the kitchens of the Town and Country Restaurant.

Semi-annual fashion shows and a Christmas bazaar were the main activities of Senn's Young Designers' Club during this past year. The members, who are interested in all phases of fashion, also assisted the Junior Red Cross Council in the making of Christmas stockings which were filled with gifts by division rooms and distributed to needy children.

Supervised by their sponsor, Mrs. Helen Chapin, the club members attended the fashion shows of both the Vogue and Art Institute Schools of Fashion to acquaint themselves with the activities of other students who share their interest in the tech-

The art of efficient and economical home management was the subject of this year's study in Senn's Department of Home Economics. To offer students the maximum opportunity to become proficient in this field, the curriculum of the department was divided into three sections. In charge of nutrition was Mrs. Marion Wood who instructed students in the proper methods of buying, preparing, and serving food. Under the direction of Mrs. Helen Chapin, Sennites enrolled in clothing classes furthered their practical knowledge of the designing, sewing and selecting of appropriate apparel.

A comprehensive course in home management for juniors and seniors was given under the instruction of Mrs. Irene Brenne. This course included home nursing, child care, interior decoration, and management of the home.

Queen Anne Squad

Introduced at Senn in September, 1956 the Queen Anne Squad of the Reserve Officers Training Corps provided a colorful addition to the numerous Senn assemblies. Members of this group, who performed intricate marching and rifle maneuvers to replace the more prosaic movements of the Manual of Arms, were also in charge of the Flag Detail and of the Color Guard, and have taken a major part in the annual Federal ROTC Inspections. In addition, the squad has been a feature attraction of ROTC recruiting assemblies presented in the elementary schools of the Senn district.

Symbolizing ROTC is First Lieutenant Howard Cohen. →

Adding the feminine touch, ROTC Hostesses—Marlene Kolton, Sandy Heke, and Betty Bristol confer with Lieutenant Kenneth Sweeney.

Members of the Senn ROTC who were interested in improving their ability as marksmen participated in riflery courses offered by the organization. As the result of a competitive contest, seven students were selected to membership on the rifle team. Trained by Lieutenant Kenneth Sweeney, Senn's team succeeded in bettering last year's record by seventy-three points. This skilled group placed eleventh in the citywide matches and subsequently sent two representatives to the metropolitan individual championship meet.

Gracing the ranks of the ROTC were six hostesses, known throughout the school by the official title of "sponsors." Chosen on the basis of their personality and records of previous service to Senn, these students performed two important tasks; they not only served as hostesses at such functions as the military ball and the awards assemblies, but also lightened the heavy schedule of the ROTC instructors by assisting with clerical work.

Standing in a formal formation of attention is a portion of Senn ROTC.

Climbs to 2807

Discussing plans for the coming year are Mrs. Henry Bloomfield, Mrs. Theodore Plann, Mark Ordower, and Mrs. Alfred Weisberg.

Mrs. Thomas Prtikin presents an award to Nina Berger of Division 200 for 100% membership. Watching are Mrs. Al Fishburn, Mrs. Henry Bloomfield, Marsha Campbell, Bonnie Lazar, Roberta Reiff, Joyce Gitterman, and Margot Penn.

According to Mrs. Henry Bloomfield, the main objective of the Parent Teacher Association was "to foster increased cooperation between the parents of Senn students and members of the faculty." To promote this goal, the PTA sponsored a number of programs designed to acquaint parents with the activities of Senn's teaching staff; chief among these functions was the annual Open House presented in November to familiarize parents with the current educational system employed in Chicago. The willingness of the community to participate in such an organization was proved by the enrollment of 2807 parents, once again making the Senn PTA the most comprehensive in the state of Illinois.

Early in the evening at Open House, PTA members set everything up.

National Honor Society

To cite students who had achieved outstanding status in Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service was the function of the Senn chapter of the National Honor Society. Under the supervision of Mrs. Bernice Antoine, Sennites who fulfilled the criteria of excellence in studies and service were selected for membership in the organization.

In October, 1958, the Scholarship Quality II Test was administered at Denta, and ten members of National Honors Society became eligible as semifinalists, to receive awards for their scholastic performance. Lee Schwartz and Roger Siegel became finalists as the result of a second examination given in March.

Maintaining cleanliness and order in the Semi student lunchroom was the principal function of the Senior Girls' Honor Club. To achieve this objective, several innovations, including the use of "Help" placards and the posting of weekly menus for the convenience of Semites, were employed throughout the past year.

Sponsored by Miss Geraldine Connell, members of this group assembled on a weekly basis to discuss the facets of their diversified schedule. In addition to conducting the Old Clothes Drive, the organization presented entertaining programs for veterans hospitalized at Great Lakes Naval Hospital and for people residing at the Hollywood Convalescent Home. Senior Girls were also charged with the responsibility of sponsoring and planning the semi-annual Senior Picnic held at Brookfield Zoo.

Green and White Acts As Disciplinary Group

That "there be . . . no distinction made in respect to race, color, or creed in Senn High School" is the principle upon which the Green and White Club was established in 1944. Green and White members maintained order in Senn Hall during assemblies and lunch periods when records were played to provide entertainment. The annual "Sennzapoppin'" program was presented to finance a $200 scholarship for a worthy Senn graduate, while the "Freddie Freshman assembly served to orient incoming Freshman students to procedures employed at Senn

With the assistance of Mrs. Eleanor Keats, members of Green and White continued a counseling service designed to aid Senmites who had difficulty either scholastically or socially. As the student disciplinary group of Senn, the organization held court and meted punishment as the occasion demanded.

According to the newly revised constitution of the Senn Senior Hostesses, the object of this organization is threefold in nature: "to render services to Nicholas Senn High School, its faculty, its students, and its visitors; to set an example for the student body of high standards of conduct; and to promote school spirit." Accomplishing their primary function of guiding Senn visitors, Hostesses officiated at both Open House and Careers Day. Extending the sphere of Hostess activity beyond the confines of Senn, programs for the youngsters of Lydia Home were presented during the Halloween and Saint Patrick's Day seasons.

To familiarize incoming Freshman girls with the procedures employed at Senn, "Freshie Orientation" was staged at the beginning of each semester. Under the guidance of Mrs. Lucille Hubbard, members of Hostesses sponsored the recently initiated series of Recreation Centers offered on alternate Friday evenings during the past year. In conjunction with Senior Girls, Hostesses presented two Social Center Dances, "Sadie Hawkins Night" and "Nebbish Nite."

Administers All-School Election

Improving the relationship between the student body and members of the Senn faculty provided the central theme for the activities of the Student Council during the past two semesters. To insure adequate consideration for the problems of all Sennites, the Council is divided into four units comprising the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior groups.

Supervised by Mr. Louis Sigalos, the Student Council is in charge of the class elections which are held each semester as well as the yearly elections of all-school officers. To acquaint students with the operation of voting machines, five machines were obtained from City Hall for the elections in January and June. The voting process was facilitated by the distribution of identification cards to all students attending Senn High School.

During the early portion of the spring semester, the Council sponsored a Social Center and a campaign to increase cleanliness not only within Senn itself but also on neighboring premises. Members of the organization also cooperated with Quill and Scroll in the sale of Senn Handbooks.

A demonstration of Senn's new voting machines brings curious stares from would-be electors.

With "service to those in need" as their motto, Miss Margaret Helen Cain and the members of Senn's Red Cross worked together to aid veterans, old people, and young children throughout the world. The proceeds of the annual United Fund Drive, conducted at the beginning of the fall term to further this project, reached the total of $2,210.00, probably the largest amount ever collected by a single high school in the city of Chicago.

A magazine drive within the school brought newly issued reading material to the veterans at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital. Each week, magazines were collected from division rooms to contribute to the success of the Red Cross program. During the past year, both the Freshman and the Junior-Senior councils collected cancelled stamps and Christmas cards which were sorted and sent to old peoples' homes in Germany and to schools in Korea and Japan.

In recognition of his outstanding achievement, Edward Dennis was selected to participate in the Red Cross International Study Visit conducted in Europe during the summer of 1958. To share his experiences and to explain the international functions of the Red Cross, Edward presented a series of lectures at Senn throughout the past two semesters.

Scribes Maintain Inventory

Preserving the repair of the multitude of volumes in circulation at Senn was the responsibility of the Scribes. With the guidance of their sponsors, Miss Geraldine Connell, Mr. Peter Coorlas, Mrs. Lucille Hubbard, and Mrs. Anne Levine, these enterprising students maintained an inventory of all textbooks distributed to Sennites, issued book cards, and assisted with the ordering of new books. In addition, the Scribes were charged with the task of repairing decrepit and obsolete publications for return to the Board of Education.

For Rose, Wolf, and Adler write another sizzling SENNsations column for publication in neighborhood newspapers.

Buzzing with the hum of voices, filled with the clack of typewriters, room 305 was the center of Publicity Staff activities. Under the direction of Mr. Jules Wolfman, the staff members assembled daily to discuss matters concerning their work. The chief purpose of the staff was to inform the community of the activities taking place at Senn. Such items consisted primarily of the SENNsations column, award and scholarship data, and specific information about the functions of various organizations operating under the sponsorship of Senn High School.

Under the direction of Miss Joan Biederstedt, Players and Workers presented two plays, "Sabrina Fair" and "Lute Song," during the first and second semesters, respectively. The two presentations reflected a wide range of technical and literary knowledge, encompassing both comic and tragic works. While "Sabrina Fair" is a highly sophisticated satire dealing with the irony of the class structure of American society, "Lute Song" relates the tale of the conflict between Eastern and Western ideologies in Oriental culture.

To demonstrate the diverse skills of members of the Seem student body was the primary purpose of "Innuendo" and "S. S. Bandanna," the two talent shows presented during the course of the 1958-59 season. Based upon an unique theme which combined the aspects of abstract art and the chronicle of one man's search for Shangri-la, a paradise on earth, "Innuendo" was directed by Joy Epstein and Rebecca Bloomheld, who also supervised the artistic and technical facets of the spring production, "S. S. Bandanna," which depicted a minstrel show staged against the nautical background of a Mississippi riverboat.

When preparing scenery for the fall show "Innuendo," crew members had to rent a trailer to transport all needed props.

When the 3.15 bell announced the conclusion of another week at Senn, the metallic clang of closing lockers ceased, murmuring voices gradually dimmed, and soon the corridors of Senn assumed an aura of stillness which marked the commencement of yet another week-end. But this task of securing a suitable location for the dances of the boys' gym, a small group of students labored industriously to transform the gym into a suitable background for the presentation of the Senn Social Centers. Although the administration of such basic preparations as the designing of bids and the decoration of the gymnasium remained the responsibility of Mr. Martin Kehoe and the Social Center Committee, other major Senn activities were left to the participation of students in the theme and the entertainment for one of the twelve programs presented during the last year.

SPORTS INSIDE SENN

Sports Scenes

A familiar sight on the bench: Mr. Samuel Nowinton, one of Senn's most loyal fans.

Will she or won't she drop her ball? (Of course, actually, she didn't.)

During the year, the excitement of the football season and the thrill of basketball victories symbolized to most Sennites the highlights of sports at Senn. But equally important was every one of Senn's other athletic activities, and a knowledge of them and their individual importance should be secured by all Senn students. A brief review of sports scenes, 1958-1959, follows.

While technically a failure, the football season was full of fight and fair play. Senn's fighting school spirit was kept alive by the efforts of the Twirlers and Cheerleaders, who unflinchingly raised morale at football and basketball games.

Many smaller groups were also a part of the sports picture. Pep Club, Bowling Club, and Horseback Riding Club were examples of student-organized athletic activities. Nereids concentrated on water ballet and life-saving, while the newly formed Recreation Center encountered instantaneous success.

"The excitement of the football season . . . full of fight and fair play"

Around Senn

The Apparatus Team, during basketball half-times, introduced its championship ability to countless Senn students for the very first time. Volleyball, always a favorite with Senn girls, became the subject of an intramural tournament, sponsored by the SC-AA. Many hours were spent by the Track and Fencing Teams in practice for their challenging meets.

In the spring, the young men's fancies lightly turned to thoughts of—baseball! Spring semester also found the Tennis Team eager to demonstrate its outstanding capabilities on the courts.

This sums up a year of sports. It was a year of victories, defeats, championships, and just plain fun. These pages are dedicated to the many students who comprise sports at Senn, all working toward the same goal: a healthy and sportsmanlike outlook on life.

Late spring found baseball turning the young men's fancies (and at least one head)

Senn	7	Marshall	25
Senn	6	Amundsen	44
Senn	6	Tuley	18

A fighting team, with substantial offense and three scoring drive, comprised Senn's Bulldogs in this year's gridiron season. The pre-season game was a disheartening loss to Sullivan, 20-6, in which Howie Olefsky's 58-yard touchdown and Don Nichols' lengthy runs failed to bring victory.

The season began with Senn edged by the Lake View Wildcats, 19-12. Touchdowns by Barwick and Nichols during the first half made this game a close one, but Senn could not muster a sustained drive in the second half and went down in defeat.

Senn met its match again in Crane Tech, when two Crane touchdowns in the final period broke open a defensive stalemate. Tommy Tiesner's and Al Unikel's skilled passes could not prevent a Senn loss, 15-0.

Marshall took advantage of Bulldog fumbles and penalties to defeat Senn, 25-7, in a hard-fought game at Hanson Park. Fullback Mike Kien and halfback Mickey Hoffman sparked the game, but the Commandos triumphed nevertheless.

The Bulldogs dropped their last two games to Amundsen and Tuley, by scores of 44-6 and 18-6, to emerge with an unhappy record of no wins, six losses. But, despite this dismal showing, the Bulldogs displayed stamina and ability, in many instances outplaying their opponents. As Coach Salvatore Loverde remarked after the Tuley loss, "We beat them in everything but the score."

Senn's frosh soph football team, an undaunted force of qualified players coached by Mr. Edward Dow, had a successful 1958 season. The Bullpups' opener was a 7-6 victory over Roosevelt, Joel Rouske scoring the winning touch down.

Two outstanding runs by Kleinfield and Hanarahan highlighted the Lake View game as Senn emerged victorious, 7-0.

In mid season the Bullpups were defeated by the St. George team, 19-13.

The Bullpups smashed Amundson by a score of 35-19 for their third win. The game was marked by brilliant running and passing by Rouske, Wishner, and Patt.

The season closed on a dismal note as Taft triumphed, 26-0.

During the 1930 baseball season a new program was introduced by the principals of the school, as well as the Board of the Junior Varsity Team, which was organized for the first time in the history of baseball at Seun. This group functioned in addition to the Varsity Team which was composed of fourteen members selected at the beginning of the

The following season's American football team was composed of players from various schools in the area. The team played its first game on September 10, 1910, against the University of Wisconsin. The team won the game by a score of 14-0. The remainder of the year's activities consisted of fourteen public league games played primarily at Winnemac Park.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Harry Leighton, acknowledged among the highest-ranking tennis coaches in the Midwest, Senn's tennis team continued to maintain its reputation as one of the finest groups in metropolitan Chicago.

Although the boys practiced throughout the entire year to improve their speed and coordination, it was not until the advent of the spring season that they were given an opportunity to demonstrate their skill on the courts. This year's calendar of events opened with the state qualifying tournament held at Humboldt Park. By this process, four singles players and two doubles teams were selected from the Chicago area to participate in the State High School Tennis Competition at Champaign, Illinois. The team also performed an active role in competitive matches within the North District, in which Herb Hoffman and Bill Barnett displayed the ability in doubles playing. Martin Curvey, Mel Magidson, and Jim Meltreger went on to vie for the city singles championship.

Cyano de Bergerac couldn't have done better himself! With Earl Brand, Senn's best swordsman, graduating in January, Coach Albert Shalhofer tested his hopes on seniors Jim Gable, Barry Kelnier, and Howie Taylor. This three man team faced stiff competition at the Midwest Junior Foul Team Meet in March when they represented Senn and competed against other high school teams from the entire Midwest. At the end of the meet the swordsmen took first place, while Senn's other two teams took third and fourth, losing second place to Austin High School. By the end of June, Senn had indeed compiled a memorable fencing record.

Cheerleaders

That's Cheerleader enthusiasm

Miss Clayce Holmberg was right in stride as the new sponsor of Cheerleaders this past year. With the girls' knowledge of Semm cheers and Miss Holmberg's fresh ideas, the Cheerleaders had fun and made fun for all at the football and basketball games.

The Cheerleaders, together with the Twirlers, presented Madcap Capers, the first social center of the spring semester. The skit, written by both groups, was a take-off on an old-time Vaudeville show.

Along with attending the varsity games and presenting a social center, the members of Cheerleaders highlighted pep assemblies with their enthusiasm.

A pajama party, also with Twirlers, was another event in the lives of Semm's Cheerleaders.

During the past Senn Year, Sergeant Robert Truland of the ROTC and Miss Clarvce Holmberg of the Girl's Gym Department coached Senn's Twirlers, the baton twirling group which entertained Sennites during half time at all football and basketball games. Twirlers also performed at a variety of school assemblies, and a number of twirlers were featured in conjunction with the Centennials. Among the list of numerous events in which the Twirlers participated. At the Waller game in February, instead of performing their regular roles, Cheerleaders took to baton twirling, and the Twirlers shouted the cheers.

On Veterans' Day, the fourteen members of Twirlers marched and displayed their talents in the parade on State Street.

Back inside the walls of Senn, the Twirlers instructed prospective members and held try-outs.

Trophies Awarded

Unlike other clubs and organizations at Senn, the Bowling Club, composed of Sennites from the freshman year onward, offered a recreational outlet to the students. Meetings were held at L'prown Bowl every Wednesday after school, and members were assigned to teams. The girls' teams competed among themselves as did the boys' teams, but at the Halloween season, the boys challenged the girls to a tournament.

Officers from both groups helped sponsor Coach Edward Dow collect money, plan meets, and plan the annual banquet, which was held at the close of the school year. Trophies were awarded to outstanding bowlers and teams.

Challenges Senior Lettermen to Volleyball Match

1. The first step is to identify the main components of the system. This includes the hardware (CPU, memory, storage) and software (operating system, applications).

During the last year, the SCVA's Athletic Association continued to heavily promote the various programs created, some works being undertaken by the Association's own sports section and others by the various clubs. The various centers and sports improved, and a lot of new events, sports, exercises and activities were introduced. Work done in other areas provided an additional benefit to SCVA members.

By assembling every other week at the Nu Fishon Riding Club when good weather prevailed, Sennites who participated in the ... Club were afforded an opportunity to improve their horsemanship. To insure every member of the organization an equal chance for instruction, the group was divided into three sections: beginning, intermediate, and advanced. Although students in the first two classes concentrated upon the fundamental techniques of riding, and therefore were generally limited to the indoor track, more experienced riders were permitted to practice their skill on outdoor trails.

The achievements of Senn's football and basketball players were greeted by the enthusiastic cheers of the girls in Pep Club. In unison with the Cheerleaders, the girls recited the cheers and helped spread school spirit among the crowd of onlookers.

Pep Club meetings followed the procedure of a typical Senn organization. Officers were elected to aid Mr. Peter Coorlas, the sponsor, and to manage the affairs of the group. The captain of the Senn Cheerleaders attended the morning meetings and coached the girls with the various cheers.

With Mrs. Cecilia Danner standing at poolside, the Nereids became acquainted with new stunts and formations which they demonstrated in a water ballet last year. Synchronized swimming, a difficult but beautiful feature of the ballet, was skillfully mastered by each water sprite.

At their Monday meetings, the girls were instructed in the application of life saving techniques. Nereids also served as assistants to teachers during swimming classes.

Dear Forum Staff

Our Yearbook has finally arrived, marking the end of our frantic picture dates, our frequent visits to Mr. G., and our many, many Forum meetings. It is a shame that the reader of our Forum cannot see in each page the work, worry, and the hilarious fun that we found this past year.

As a staff, you have proved to be ideal, offering your ideas and energy in order to complete this book, Our Forum.

Forum Staff of 1959, be proud of a job well done.

May we always be friends.

THE EDITORS

To Mrs. Alice Galt, our sponsor, we express our everlasting gratitude for her assistance, guidance, and friendship. We extend special thanks to Mr. Joseph Galt, Wayne Erickson, and Mr. Leander Haggren.

Prom time is a busy time at Devon Florists. Guys and gals pick out the perfect corsage for their favorite date. Looking at the beautiful array of flowers available are Gerie Lerner, Karen Levy, Mike Klein, and Mike Kien.

Patti Fishman and Nora Plesofsky deposit their savings in their own bank account. You, too, can deposit and withdraw money yourself. In fact, your money will make money at the same time with the interest given to all depositors. Save and be independent at Independence Hall at the Cook County Federal Savings.

Dazzling, glowing, portraits are the specialty of Gibson Studios. Trudi Sommerfield and Jerry Ackerman beam as they look at each other's portrait. Make your graduation a memorable event by having your portrait taken.

Dave Ginsburg in his neat blazer from Eric Salm, priced reasonably at $29.50, helps Lorna Galpin off with her fur-trimmed coat which was worn over a chic suit. Both suit and coat are from Cooney's. Bob Zwick munches on popcorn as he listens to Sylvia Page play the latest pop tunes. 'Delicious!' exclaims Diane Foreman, as she eats her taffy apple. Mel Magdson and Gary Gurvey agree as they reach for handfuls of fresh roasted nuts.
